

What's going on?

There have been several nights of protests and violent clashes between police and protestors as demonstrations have swept across cities in the US and other cities around the world. The protests in Minneapolis began in reaction to the death of a man named George Floyd after he was stopped by police officers. The protests have now spread across the country to cities including New York, LA, Chicago and Philadelphia. While many protests have been peaceful, many places have seen rioting, looting and violence and President Trump has said he will call in the army if things aren't brought back under control.

Question:

What does Black Lives Matter mean?

Listen, think, share

-  Look at the poster image, are you aware of the protests currently taking place in America and in other cities around the world? Many people are angry about the unfairness and mistreatment of how black African American citizens are treated by the police and in other situations within their lives. They want to raise awareness of racism and are trying to change the opinions and actions of others. As some of the protests have turned violent, they have caused divided opinion. Some people believe that more peaceful methods should be used to help educate and initiate change.
-  Many people in America feel the police and the justice system treat black people unfairly compared to how they treat white people. African Americans are five times more likely to be sent to jail than white Americans. Does this surprise you? Have you heard of the Black Lives Matters movement? Recent protests have brought the ongoing movement to the forefront of peoples' attention all around the world. The movement campaigns against violence and racism and fights for equality for black people around the world, starting in 2013.
-  Read through the experience of American author Shola Richards found on the resource sheet. What can it teach us about the effects of racism on his daily life? Does any of his experience surprise you? Why do you think he wanted to share his story at this time?

Challenge

Can you find out about and create a fact file from a person influential to the black civil rights movement e.g. Rosa Parks or Martin Luther King?
