

The Invasion

Use this image to create a story. It can be based however loosely on the image, but must include a beginning, middle, end, and engaging plot with a problem and solution. Don't forget not to rush to your resolution, take your time and use the impressive language we talk about all the time in class. Let your imaginations run wild.

Even though this image is called the Invasion, that doesn't have to be the title of your story. It can play as bigger or as smaller part as you want it to be!

If you're struggling to come up with ideas, get a big piece of paper, sit with mum, dad or another adult, and mind map ideas, have a discussion with them, as this is the best way to get the ideas flowing!

I'd love to read some of these when you have finished, so my email address is rgoodwin@stmarysnewman.co.uk please email them to me when you are done!
