

What good would sound be if we could not record it in some way? Today we are going to explore the greatest receiver of sound within the natural world- the human ear! Label the diagram below with the names of the various parts of the ear.

CROSS SECTION OF THE EAR